

Thomas P. Mauriello

Biography

tpmauriello@gmail.com
301-219-1492 cell

Tommauriello is an educator, author, consultant, and public speaker. He retired in February 2012 after 30 years of service with the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD). His assignments with DoD included: Special Agent; Chief of Police; Senior Polygraph Examiner; Director, Occupational Health, Environmental and Safety Services; Director, Interagency OPSEC Support Staff (IOSS); Deputy Director for Security Education, Training and Awareness; Congressional Staff Investigator for the U.S. Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations; and Chief of Polygraph for the Associate Directorate for Security and Counterintelligence. He is a former police officer and criminal investigator.

His academic position held concurrently throughout his professional career includes teaching criminal investigation and forensic sciences courses, while managing the Crime Laboratory for the University of Maryland at College Park, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice. Member of the Council of Forensic Science Educators.

An accomplished author, who wrote the digital textbook, Introduction to Criminalistics – From Crime Scene to Court Room; the legal treatise, Criminal Investigation Handbook – Strategy, Law and Science; The Dollhouse Murders, illustrating crime scene dioramas used to study the crime scene investigation (CSI) process; Public Speaking for Criminal Justice Professions – A Manner of Speaking; and the CSI Checklist App, available fall 2020.

A sought after forensic sciences consultant, TOMM is regularly interviewed for newspaper, television, and radio news media. He has appeared on ABC World News Tonight and CBS Sunday Morning News, and Fox and MSNBC cable news shows. He has been featured on television documentaries, including The Discovery Channel's Lizzie Borden Had An Ax, and Investigation Discovery (ID) Channel's series, Forensics: You Decide. He is the host of the webcast show, "ForensicWeek.com," broadcast LIVE and archived on www.ForensicWeek.com.

His vast public speaking experience includes the presentation of counterintelligence awareness briefings and forensic science lectures at numerous universities and law schools, as well as his motivational seminar on public speaking communications, Motivation through Communication.

Recipient of the U.S. Department of Defense, Exceptional Civilian Service; Holds the degree of Master of Forensic Sciences from The George Washington University in Washington, D.C. Fellow - American Academy of Forensic Science, Active member - International Association for Identification, Member - Council of Forensic Science Educators, Member - Maryland Polygraph Association, and Lifetime Member - Operations Security (OPSEC) Professionals Society. FAA Certified Remote Pilot for small Unmanned Aircraft Systems (sUAS) and Advisory Committee Member - Maryland Center for Forensic Excellence.

On April 2011, he formed a forensic consultant company, ForensIQ, Inc. His company provides forensic investigation services; criminal case & evidence assessments; security & counterintelligence services; education, training, awareness and motivational public speaking presentations; and news media and film and TV production consultation.

For more details visit his website on www.forensiqinc.com